“At Interschutz 2015 we employed temporary staff provided by Deutsche Messe along with security and cleaning staff. Everyone was extremely professional and the extra staff at our stand and our own employees formed a great team. We would do the same thing next time.”

Stand security: Get extra protection

Deutsche Messe AG has some of the highest security standards in the world. In spite of this, an element of risk remains – one that increases when the trade fair has closed for the day but the halls remain open. Put your trust in our trained security staff and safeguard your exhibits and equipment during the show, as well as extra security when your stand is being assembled and dismantled.
